- For any queries on this – contact our customer service team

Playing Kit

- Where one person from the club should order for the team
- Where you will pay from the Union account
- Minimum order quantity of 10 per style – eg. 10 t-shirts or 10 shorts.
- 6–8-week lead time.
- If you have queries about the kit ordering – please contact me directly.

White Label

- Unbranded, non-New Balance items
- Cheaper option
- Good for tours or events
- Have the same printing options
- 10 day lead time

Order Process

- All orders paid for by the club will go to Alex for approval
- An order doesn't become an order until we have received the Purchase order number from Alex
- Once this has been received and we can push the order through into our system – this is when the lead time starts
- We are doing a fitting day on September 27th to give some confidence on sizing for the playing kit – once the order goes into production, we try not to make amends.

Design Process

- We will work with you to create a design you're happy with
- Please note new designs could take up to 7 working days to be completed
- Every design must be signed off by Ryan and Alex
- Playing kits for all BUCS fixtures need to follow the claret and blue colouring.
- If your sport has any kit regulations like specific number sizing, please let us know during the design process, as we don't have access to this information a lot of the time.
- If you have new logos, please try to make sure these are formatted in a vector file (high quality)
- When we send over the job sheet, please check you are happy with the sizes of logos, that is more important than the placement and how it looks on the visual.
- Once designs are completed, these can take another 2-3 days to be uploaded for ordering
